Match Manager

A small app for running a 7-a-side match: playing time, substitutions, goals and assists. Made for a phone on the touchline — big buttons, works with no signal.

`kbottsson.github.io/match-manager`

No account, no cost, no app store. It's an early build, so expect rough edges — that's what I want your eyes on.

1 Put it on your home screen

Open the link in Safari → Share → Add to Home Screen. Then it opens full-screen, works offline, and keeps its data — Safari clears stored data for sites you don't visit for a week.

2 Add your players — once

Roster tab → first name and shirt number for each kid. First names only. Everything stays on your phone: nothing is uploaded and I can't see it.

3 Make a team

Teams tab → + New team → name it (e.g. "P16 A") → tap the players you want → Save. Roster is "everyone in the club"; a team is "the group that plays together". You can have several, and edit them any time.

4 Plan a match

Match tab → + Plan another match → opponent, date, which team. Then fill the grid: tap a cell and pick a player. A period is three blocks of 7 / 7 / 6 minutes, so two substitutions per period. The bench row under each period shows who sits out; the forecast at the bottom shows everyone's minutes. Can't make it? Untick them under "Who is here today" — their cells empty and they drop off the bench.

5 On match day

- Start period 1 on the whistle; Stop / Start if play stops.
- ⚽ on a row = goal, then pick the assist (or No assist).
- ⇄ on a row = substitution: from a player on the pitch it asks who comes on; from the bench it asks who comes off. Two taps either way.
- Tap a player's name to change position, sub off, or edit minutes.
- The period chip at the top holds End period and End match; the ‹ top-left goes home mid-match, clock still running.

GOOD TO KNOW

Minutes include time in goal — one number per player.

Every action can be undone: a toast appears for a few seconds, and there's a ↶ in the bottom bar.

Nothing syncs yet — what you record stays on your phone.

KNOWN GAPS

One coach only; no shared read-only view for a second phone.

No hand-editing of minutes, no season totals.

No availability calendar — you mark absences per match.

WHAT I'D LIKE TO HEAR

1. Could you run a whole match end to end without getting stuck?
2. Is the plan grid readable on your phone, or too much scrolling?
3. Are the ⚽ / ⇄ buttons too easy to hit by mistake?
4. Anything you expected to find and couldn't?

Screenshots beat descriptions, and please say what you were doing at the time. To poke around without entering real names, add ?seed=1 to the link and it opens on a fake match in progress.

Thanks — even "this bit confused me" is useful at this stage.
